Bloodlines Film Release Date

CHICAGO, IL – June 18, 2018

(Waterfront Productions) – Award winning Indie Filmmaker John Borowski (H.H. Holmes: America's First Serial Killer) has secured distribution for his fifth feature documentary film, Bloodlines: The Art and Life of Vincent Castiglia, for a North American release date of November 13, 2018. The film focuses on artist Castiglia's life of abuse, addiction, and recovery while also exploring the reasons why the world renowned artist paints exclusively in human blood.

The film trailer can be viewed at the official film website: <https://bloodlinesdocumentary.com/>

Borowski selected the company MVD Entertainment Group for worldwide release of Bloodlines. Film distribution can be a minefield to walk through for the indie filmmaker as film distribution is often a world fraught with deception. In the past, Borowski has had his share of dealing with deceptive distributors, calling film distribution "legal larceny". Borowski has a good feeling about MVD, stating: "I have heard many great things about MVD from others in the industry. One of the most appealing aspects of distribution with MVD is that they release films on DVD. The profits from streaming films is criminally low and DVD is the only form of distribution that actually yields a decent profit for the indie filmmaker."

After a successful Kickstarter fundraising campaign, production of the film spanned from 2014 to 2018, filming on location in the United States: New York City, Los Angeles, Louisiana, Chicago, Oregon, and internationally: Singapore and Switzerland.

Bloodlines has achieved unprecedented interest from reviews and recent screenings:

"A tremendously entertaining look inside the mind of a remarkable artist." – Bloody Disgusting

"An honest and inspirational look into a unique and incredibly talented artist's soul." – Film Threat

"A morbid, fascinating, and remarkably inspiring new documentary about one of the most acclaimed artists of our time." – Metal Injection
